

Test of English as Foreign Language (TOEFL)

About TOEFL 2021

The Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) is a premier English-language proficiency test that is conducted by the Educational Testing Service (ETS). The TOEFL exam is conducted in computer-based mode, known as TOEFL iBT. The alternative paper-delivered mode is only available for locations where testing via the internet is not available. TOEFL iBT test measures all 4 communication skills — reading, listening, speaking, and writing, and is the preferred by educational institutions. Over 11,000 universities and institutions spread across 150 countries accept TOEFL scores for admission, jobs and immigration purposes. The computer-based test is administered more than 60 times a year, and can be taken at designated test centres. Availability of test dates and exam centres can be checked at the time of TOEFL 2021 registration.

The score of TOEFL is valid for a period of two years from the date of the test.

TOEFL 2021 registration is open 24/7. Also, note that there is no specific eligibility criteria to take the TOEFL test; instead the applicant must refer the minimum TOEFL score - both section-wise and overall - prescribed by the institution he/she is seeking admission to.
